

I am in a big attic and realize that my old Jewish girlfriend is there. I have invited her to come with my Polish friend but she does not want to talk to me. I then walk to his back and start massaging his shoulders without paying any attention to her while also waiting for other guests to arrive.

I am in my old institute looking for a studio. I can see people arranging chairs in the main hall and I ask them where to find it. My ex wife's boss comes up to me and starts explaining how a new studio got now in charged of moving the other studios around but he still does not answer me.

I am walking down an hotel and meet a Russian colleague. She was going up to meet me but I have to go out to meet my father. I then start walking on a bike path looking at the beautiful sunset and notice that the trees are of many different colors. As I look for the sun again it is already set.

I am under a bridge doing abdominals when other people arrive. I then prepare to leave and put my shoes in a bag. As I start walking again I realize that I have many other shoes that are not mine. I then open the bag again and start putting them down but the people around me get suspicious.

I am watching a documentary with two Americans traveling in a deserted landscape. The road is of sand and I realize that they must be in the Middle East. They have been driving for days and decide to take a break. As they go out of the car one of them sees a burnt American school bus ahead.

I am at the bottom of a staircase leading up to a big monument and realize that my American friend is walking up with my sister. There is also another American guy that I have not seen for a long time and I place my sister between them. I wish to take a picture of them but they are too fast.

I am in the back of a classroom with a lot of young black students. I then realize that I am part of a delegation and bend down to taste a slice of cake that they have not eaten. I take it with me to another classroom where a movie is screened but there are white mothers breast feeding their kids.

I am on a boat with a Brazilian guard and she starts talking about an island in front of us. I already know that it has the world highest percentage of snakes but I realize that she is talking about a smaller island in front of it. There is a boy there and she tells me how he lives below a mountain.

I am at my parents' place and go upstairs to join them for lunch. Everyone is seating already and as I also seat down I realize that my plate is broken in half. My stepfather is looking at me and tells me that I am very bad. I then reply to him that I am only half bad like the plate and he agrees.

I am standing with other students in a classroom and the teacher starts telling us about our essays. Only my girlfriend and few others managed to pass and I ask why I did not. The teacher is actually the German prime minister and she comments on some products I have installed by the wall.

I am driving in the countryside and reach a small football field. There is an old high school friend at the entrance and he also gets me to play with his team. I am the goal keeper but the ball is small and I cannot see it. They start scoring a lot but then I realize that I am wearing dark glasses.

I am in my parents' old house and start talking to my sister's friends. One of them is actually a Nazi and I want to join him for a mission. We then go upstairs to prepare to go out but I actually see that he is very ugly. He wants to buy some weapons and I feel like I should have stayed home.

I am on top of a mountain with my stepfather and he tells me to go down. I actually have skies and I start descending even though the snow is melting. At the bottom I meet my uncle who is swearing a lot and I follow him back on the lift but I soon realize that I don't want to ski anymore.

I am at a party with other artists and one of them come up with a big butter knife. I actually have a pan in my hands and start hitting everyone in the back. I then leave the group and find that I am at a friend's wedding. There a lot of silver he has received as a present and cups in a cabinet.

I am in a villa trying to go over an old wooden gate. It actually collapses and I put it up again. I then walk back inside and find an old friend playing on a piano with only strings. Another friend is playing the tale and I realize that he is not as good as the friend on the opposite side but it works.

I am in a bus driving through an Italian village. It actually comes back to where it started and I go out to pick a friend. We then get back on top of the bus and try to find a good place but it is full of gypsies. We move to the other end of the roof and find two other Italian guys who can protect us.

I am walking with an old family friend in a market. We are actually holding hand even though I am wearing a t-shirt with holes. There is a lot of second hand clothes but she gets interested about an adhesive tape. I then use it to protect the images of two famous performers in a family album.

I am walking outside with my Polish friend and his girlfriend. We arrive at a river and my friend jumps in the water to cross it. I actually want to cross from a bridge but his girlfriend finds that under it there is ice and it is easy to cross. We then do it her way and get easily to the other side.

I am in my former grandparents' farm and look at a small field with two old buildings. As I think how perfect they would be to build an installation my former father-in-law comes. He wants me to saw the wood he has in the tractor but the machine is too dangerous and he cuts his hand with it.

I am walking in a city at night and reach a square with a lot of gypsies. One of them is actually well dressed and gets in a bank. I join another and we start making shadows in the sky using our hands. Some people get around us and I focus to imitate the hand movements of the other gypsy.

I am in a garden digging a small square hole but a curly dog keeps coming even though I hit him with a bottle. I then ask my son to build a small fence with sticks but my neighbour invites us to eat cake at her place. I then shows his mother my new mountains house but she doesn't like it.

I am walking with my girlfriend out of a mall and she tells me that she is about to give birth. She carrying the baby of her brother and I got really angry because she did not tell me. I then slap her but she laughs and gets down to my apartment. My kid is also there and I decide to kick her out.

I am in a car with an Norwegian curator driving up a mountain. She is talking to a France guy and wants him to join a residency in the village where we are going. It is very far away but she starts offering him a lot of money. I could take the offer but the France guy at last accepts the best offer.

I am walking with an artist in an old city. We actually reach a canal with clear water and he calls a guy to ask him how to go across it. The guy tells him to swim over but we find a bridge and I hear that the guy is an homosexual curator and wants me to sleep with him in the evening.

I am driving the car with my son on a highway. There are a lot of beautiful mountains around us but he doesn't seem so impressed. I then turn on a piano sonata but it is also boring and we stop at a military cemetery even though it is too close to the highway and the TV has just been there.

I am outside a mall at night and leave my car in a parking lot with many other cars. I then follow a lot of other drivers to the mechanic. They all have a flat tire and I also have the front one flat. I actually manage to talk to the shop assistant but don't have the size of the tire and he gets angry.

I am walking on the side of a mountain at night. I can see a bigger mountain on the opposite side and think about getting a place there. I can see the lights of a village on top but notice that there is a steep ski slope going all the way to the bottom. I then realize that I don't need to be so high.

I am in a restaurant and ask the bartender to get me two glasses of tap water. She is actually preparing two glasses with sparkling water for an American friend and his friends. I then join them with my friend and we start eating rice although they want to come to our place to get a book back.

I am in a club at night and see an American girl leaving. I then also leave with my Gambian roommate and find that it is daylight outside. We start looking for my bike to go home but then realize that we have to be back in the city center to visit the American girl. We then decide to stay there.

I am with some old friends walking to a school but meet our young students walking out. We then get them back in the gym where we are supposed to teach them gymnastic. We are late ant their teachers are upset but I climb the door to get another kid and find a hammer to break stones.

I am on top of a dune looking at the ocean when suddenly I see a big white bird flying on top of me. I then start filming it with my camera following him and realize that his feathers are very fluffy. I then turn back to keep filming and realize that my son is also there playing but the bird is gone.

I am biking down a mountain path but realize that it is very narrow and steep. My stepfather is biking ahead and I loose track of him but I anyway decide to stop. I then look at the map and see that the path is marked in black dots and it is actually a dead end without any way to return.

I am walking in a valley carrying an iron cross. It is actually from another village but I actually leave it in front of another small church. As I look to the side I realize that there is a mountain going along and a bigger church is built in a cave. I then walk to it but find that inside is all modern.

I am on an escalator with my twin cousins. They are wearing nice clothes and I am proud to be with them. We actually reach a floor in which they start to experiment with different resins and I ask one of them which one I should use. He points at a can and I put my hand inside getting it sticky.

I am looking at my phone and find that my Sicilian roommate needs my help. I am actually working on a paper and need to find the etymology of a word. As I switch to a dictionary I start taking notes but realize that my hard penis is out and I am actually writing on it with black capitol letters.

I am in a room with my old supervisor and a young teacher from Germany. I am actually explaining the latter about my theoretical background but I cannot remember any names. I then improvise the one of an English theorist and my old supervisor immediately tells me the right name.

I am at a party and meet the wife of my old director. She has a young daughter with her and tells me that her husband is downstairs. I then go down and find him seating at the entrance with another little girl. I then ask him if she is also his daughter and then realize that the look the same.

I am walking with a girl with my arm over her shoulder and start feeling her small breast. She then takes me to her bed but I don't want to make love. My girlfriend comes and I go up to talk to her but she is missing one side of hairs. She has actually started a cure for cancer and leaves me.

I am in a friend's apartment and we get a few coins from his father. I then run down the staircase to buy food but realize that they are too little. A girl wants to pay for my body and I give it to her. She gets on me to fuck me but it takes a long time before she comes and I realize she is a man.

I am in a wood workshop reading the definition of a term. As I find the same adjective that I have also used the same adjective I see a worker coming with the archival box I told him to build for me. He actually uses big nails but I realize that the wooden panel is too soft and starts bending.

I am on a bus going down an highway but realize that it passes by my son's country house without stopping. I then ask a girl and she explains that it is an express bus. I wait until it gets to the final stop and run out to get a commuter train back to the countryside but they all go to the city.

I am walking in a poor neighborhood with a Syrian family. One of them starts talking to me about a weapon that they keep in there apartment. He explains that his uncle is making bad use of it and already killed a person. I then think of telling this to my supervisor so that he can be stopped.

I am in an hotel with two other girls and get out of their room to go to the airport. It is very late and one of them tries to help me catch a taxi but there is a long queue in front of me. The other girl manages to get me to the airport but I lost my flight and a hostess tries to get me a new ticket.

I am in a field and hear a rooster. I then walk across it to find it but end up in a small farm. In the middle of it there is a black and white bull seating on a chair like a human. It has very long straight hair and I go behind him to caress it since he really likes it and I heard that he is very kind.

I am walking in the Swedish capital and pass by a pub where I find several American soldiers going inside. I then realize how short they all are and notice that one of them is walking out with some food. He walks fast up a hill on the other side and I realize that they must be very strong soldiers.

I am in a restaurant with my relatives and seat on a different table to eat cake. I then go outside and find my stepfather who is talking on the phone with a carpenter. He is trying to get him build the crates I need for my project but the price is too high. I then talk to him but we both can't hear.

I am on an island digging the muddy earth on top and find a big scarf with patterns of naked black women. I then show it to my girlfriend but she is actually my son and I realize that we are on a cruise. I then follow him on the deck where he finds an American soldier and asks him for chips.

I am in a bar with my girlfriend and listen to two American artists. One of them is famous and tries to asks questions both to the other artist but also to me. I then realize that he is not sincere and I start talking to my girlfriend instead about the white tiles under us that have been worn out.

I am walking to the old wooden staircase of an ancient library. There is my old supervisor but I am actually looking at the other students and go up without greeting him. The TV is interviewing us and I prepare a lamp. When it is my turn they give me a microphone that attaches to my back.

I am in an empty restaurant with my twin sister and her friend. We are actually not hungry and we ask the cook for a soup. He only has a soup made of figs and he doesn't even know if it is too old. I then want to try to ask him about other dishes but I am afraid they are all with meat.

I am walking with my girlfriend in Ireland and go down the empty road of a neighborhood. On the left side I actually see my supervisor approaching with her husband. I then start to hurry down the road but realize that they might have seen us and go back to introduce them my girlfriend.

I am walking in a town looking for a pizza place. I actually pass by a restaurant and see that they also serve pizza. I stop there even though it is very small inside. The waiter gives a menu and I find that each page is a pizza but there is too much olive oil on them. I go for one with mushrooms.

I am seating with my aunt and uncle out of a restaurant. I can see their credit card number on the table and they ask me if I am actually able to do an astrological calculation on that number. I tell them that I can and they tell them that they have invested a lot of money with Chinese people.

I am inside a plane that is already landed. It keeps going along the airport but never stops. At last they let us go out and I find two women at the gate. They are both very tall and are worrying about their flight. As I explain them that it has just arrived they come with their big breast against me.

I am standing outside the small gate of a very big park. As I think how expensive it is two sisters approach me. I then tell them that I feel thirsty and one of them offers me her bottle but I want to go in the café. They follow me and I finally decide to buy a nice pastry instead of a drink.

I am in a ground floor apartment with my Polish friend. He has actually bought it with his girlfriend and tells me of another apartment a friend is buying on the opposite side of the park. The latter asked my friend to buy it with him but he doesn't know if he want to as he feels spied by him.

I am in the parking lot of a mountain restaurant and look at a daughter showing her mother how she climbs a cliff. It is actually quite steep and she manages to go a bit high up. She then stops and does a big split with her legs over the rocks. They are too slippery and she starts sliding down.

I am at my university and realize that two students are stealing fruit from a faculty room. I ignore them and go downstairs to look at a screening but two colleagues ask me to move somewhere else. I then move next to another colleague who is really pedant and starts telling me about an actor.

I am in a classroom with three Dutch professors. I am supposed to give a seminar to their students but they tell me that the topic is related to home. I then start referring to a lot of theorists talking about it while they eat my warm up spaghetti. One of them finds rice inside and dislike them.

I am in my parents-in-law's country house and they tell me that it is time for me to leave. I then go to talk to my ex wife and ask her if they have a dinner with guests who do not want to see me. She then takes me to a mall to eat a salad but we only find leftovers and I take a bowl to eat it.

I am walking up a mountain and reach a university. There is a professor in the terrace but the way up is too steep and I go around it. He then takes me down to a basement to show me a map of China but I cannot give him any advice because it is too small and I cannot see any smaller city.

I am with my stepfather in my apartment looking at two guys taking my stove to the other end of the living room. We do the last part but realize that they have left it on. I then try to shut the fire but burn myself and drop my gloves inside it. As I try to lift the stove without them and find it cold.

I am on a street trying to fix a table for a picnic. There is actually a river behind me and I notice that each fisherman has a black and white portrait standing up like a flag. They are not fishing anything but I see that some guys from India have caught a little fish on the other side of the bay.

I am in my mountain place checking my neighbours' fields. I see that there is one that it is fenced and I think that it would be very nice to plant a vineyard there. I then continue along the edge of an apple tree plantation and realize that I could plant it in the front but then see the bus station.

I am in a mountain village and start walking to the next village. There is snow on the road and I realize that I can slide with one foot. I actually go really fast and reach a junction with other skiers. As I wonder whether to go left or right a short Swedish girl kisses me but I find her face quite ugly.

I am in my apartment seating in the kitchen with my supervisor and her husband. They are actually living there with other colleagues and they tell me that the rent will increase. They then explain to me that they have decided to put floor heating even though it is already very warm there.

I am at my parents' place seating with my mother. My stepfather's skies are next to me and she tells me how to put them together. I then find that they are already attached with velcro and I get back to a local newspaper where I find an article about me. I show it to my mother but it is very bad.

I am in a park seating with my girlfriend. We are both drinking a soda but my straw is too long and there are too many kids around us. They are actually related to my supervisor and she comes to give them also a soda. I then take a little one and start pouring it in the a little kid's mouth.

I am in a restaurant eating with my colleagues. One of them starts a speech and I realize that it is very religious. As I try to get some salad from a guy seating on the opposite side I realize that the colleague is actually thanking the Lord for our food. I then understand that I should let him finish.

I am in a car with my biological father. I am actually in the backseat and my girlfriend is driving next to him. He is speaking Italian to her and start talking too much not caring that she is only a beginner. As we drive in a tunnel my girlfriend stops and I understand that I should drive instead.

I am biking with my family and follow a map straight through a forest. I then see that the map tells us to go straight up the mountain. My sister and I start climbing but my stepfather keeps going straight. We call him several times and he finally turns to tell us that there is avalanche risk there.

I am following a big black woman in her apartment. I need to go to the airport but she tells me to take it easy. As she explains that it is only a short ride and I can sleep in the car I seat on the sofa. I am fine with that although I realize that the ride is long and she will also need to drive back.

I am in a classroom listening to an important scholar. She is actually lecturing from behind a counter and another student asks me if I am going to a party. The scholar overhears and decides to take a break as I explain to her that the student with the party works as an underwater policeman.

I am in a mountain village and buy a ticket to visit all the small cheese factories. As I walk up the suburb a man tells me about three ones on the top of the mountain. It is actually far from where I live but I start walking up anyway until I pass through a vineyard and an angry dog attacks me.

I am in a village with a couple and walk with them to a square. It is very old and beautiful and I regret that I haven't been there before with my girlfriend. We then walk through the city walls and reach a nice lake. It is sunset and I throw myself in the water even though the winter is just over.

I am in a garage with my kid and my parents. My stepfather has some bike tools there and shows me a wrench. I then start working on my kid's bike that is connected to a bag of floor. He is actually helping me but the floor gets all dirty with the bike oil. He anyway gives it to my parents to eat.

I am in a museum and go out with a large print to put it on an old wall. The wind is blowing and I wonder how I should do it. I then go back in and try to look for some nails that work on cement. I find some gold ones and ask a carpenter if I can use them but he was actually looking for them.

I am in a shop selling office supplies and wait for my turn. I need many boxes where to put my drawings and I see that they sell some plastic ones high on the shelf behind the counter. As it gets my turn the shop assistant shows me another one that is lower down and too wide for my drawings.

I am watching a video with my stepsister skating down a small mountain road. She is actually wearing a camera but then I see that she is also being filmed form behind. I then realize that my mother is biking behind her and that my stepfather is skating down the mountains to film them.

I am walking with my girlfriend out of a Sicilian village. There is a lot of mud and I start regretting to have bought a house there. As we get out of it I see an old cement building with a round wooden house constructed on top. It is very precarious and we start wondering who lives there.

I am in the office of a scientist watching at his program. It has sorted automatically my images and he slides through them. They are actually all about the cheeses I have used in my life and one picture shows a cheese full of dust. The scientist slides through it but pick the dust with his finger.

I am in my mountain place resting outside. I suddenly here someone coming with a chart to pick wood and I realize that it could be the neighbor. I actually owe him money but it is his daughter who is coming and we start playing volleyball together even though her father could come anytime.

I am outside a mountain restaurant enjoying the beautiful sun and find a piece of a tie. I then put it on and show it to my best friend but he starts throwing snowballs at me. I run in the field in front of the restaurant but he can still catch me. I also shoot back but almost hit a group of friends.

I am in a square and see three blond girls training gymnastics. They are American soldiers and I start coaching them even though there is already an old lady there telling them what to do. The latter actually shows me that there is also a Swedish couple and I switch to Swedish to impress her.

I am looking at a book showing a lot of different mountains. Some of them are actually nearby my cottage and I especially like one that has a completely flat top. As I reach the end of the book there is a smaller reproduction of that mountain and I realize that it is the Yugoslavian TV station.

I am going by car with two guys through a valley. They live in a city nearby but do not know about it. I then explain to them that it is a very fertile place with a lot of vineyards. It is actually quite small and we reach their city built next to a river. The two guys go in to show me how polluted it is.

I am walking with my girlfriend in a portico. We are very elegant and I am also carrying a bag from an expensive shop but I see my supervisor standing outside. She is dressing with leather clothes and is next to a chopper. As we hurry not to be seen my girlfriend tells me how ugly she finds her.

I am in an hotel room with an older man. We are actually on top of a mountain and he keeps talking to a waitress while I just want to go out. We finally get ready to go and I propose him to walk to the bottom but we end up going on an elevator. My backpack is anyway too heavy to walk so long.

I am in a bus going to the airport and realize that my girlfriend is driving. She is doing a good job but feels like she doesn't know where to go. I then start kidding with her and show her the way to a small amusement park. She keeps going her on way feeling very insecure but I know she is right.

I am in my apartment at night. There is actually a young lady laying sick in bed and I go to the kitchen to prepare a medicine for her. I find some blue and long pills and I start to prepare three with a glass of water. As I go back to the bedroom I find that she is dead and I kneel down to pray.

I am at a restaurant with my son and find a TV playing old Japanese cartoons. I then try to show him the very first cartoon of an old series and actually find it. It is all in Japanese but he doesn't mind it even though the volume is also very high and I feel like it is bothering the other costumers.

I am in the Italian parliament with a famous politician. We are laying flat on the very top but I can see that the prime minister might see our faces through the fence. I then go backward and start crawling down the left side while the other politician crawls the right side and does not get caught.

I am in a rich neighborhood and get to my son's place. He is opening his birthday present with his mother. It is small and I can already see the legs of the rabbit I bought for him. It actually jumps out and go to hide in the stove. There is a gas tank there and I get afraid that it could explode.

I am looking for my son and go down the house of a neighbour. I then go out and find my son across the street in a big garage. He is playing with other kids and I start to walk back but then see the neighbour with a four wheelers drive. I also get on and realize that he is my old brother-in-law.

I am sleeping in a forest and wake up in the middle of the night. I am actually under the earth and I can feel the roots around me but make an effort to go up. I do so even though I cannot see and I start to walk through the bushes. Suddenly I get into a path and I cross some guys running up.

I am walking with an old American friend and pass by the house of my Greek friend working for a very important university. I then show my American friend the back of the latter coming out from a terrace. We then decide to make him a surprise and my American friend runs in like a thief.

I am with a girl walking next to an old country house we just bought. As she asks me about the old walls we reach the courtyard. It is actually very beautiful and I realize that my best friend is cooking in the chimney. He is using the gas stove and we find ourselves on top with boiling water.

I am in a Chinese restaurant and see that my father is getting drunk. I then try to follow him outside but only find another girl getting drunk. As I walk around the restaurant there is a black guy who is trying to put all the other drunks in a line but he scares the birds and his boss gets angry.

I am looking at my email and see that an American researcher wants to join my professional network. I then look at his profile and see that he works in a small lab in the mountains. He is actually under a very important professor and I try to also view his profile but the access is denied.

I am in a university and decide to go downstairs to catch some air. I was just giving a big seminar and I meet my Polish friend outside. Rather than congratulate me he says that now I should request to move my office from the second floor to the bottom but I actually feel very fine where I am.