

I am in a public toilette showering. As I get out a man complains about the cranes licking water. I then tell him that the pressure might be too high and as I get out I realize that I have seen that kind of door somewhere else. It is actually an American toilette but it is too late to explain this.

I am carrying some boxes with pizzas and reach some friends also eating pizzas outside a restaurant. One of them makes some space for me and I seat down to eat one of my pizzas but it has two slices of meat on top. He then offers me to eat one of his vegetarian pizzas and I take that.

I am in my mountain cottage with my girlfriend's brother family. I am actually seating with her nephew and write a number on top of the snails we have found. He is actually putting them in her mouth and I call his mother but a white leopard arrives with our small cat hanging on his throat.

I am watching a movie about two guys who are told by their girlfriends to go to a horse ride. They go there but don't see them. There are two other girls and one of the guys puts sunglasses on one of the girls agreeing that she looks similar enough to his girlfriend. They then go for them.

I am in my parents' old house and realize that two French girls are looking for me. They are actually going to the bathroom where my sister is coming out of the shower. I then go to fetch them and propose to take them to town. I get my parents' car keys but my stepfather is also going out.

I am in a park and see a Chinese girl laying down. I then bring her some food and take her to sleep in the shop of a friend. I want to leave her there but she doesn't know the way and I decide to take her to my apartment. As I am about to do so a friend of my friend comes to lock up the shop.

I am with my sister outside on a field installing an headphone playing my thoughts. I actually put it on a very high column but realize that the extension is too short. My sister then leaves to get a longer one but I also realize that the headphone is anyway too far away to reach by anyone.

I am inside a big building I have just bought to set up my entire project. As I go around it I realize that it is a very big church. I then walk to the altar and look from there seeing still a lot of believers praying. I also see a small chapel with believers and inside is another door to another place.

I am with two of my mountain neighbours out in the courtyard next to the lavatory where we do laundry. We all have brushes and I wonder who will clean the cement floor. It is filled with detergent powder and the older neighbour tells me that I should brush it off even though I didn't spill it.

I am on a field with many dogs and a girl leaves me a big one to look after. As she leaves I start picking up the dog's pooh but then realize that I cannot recognize him anymore among many other big dogs of similar colors. I ask another girl looking after them and she shows me which one it is.

I am on a small village in the mountains and talk to a lady owning a barn there. I want to ask her the price so that my friends can buy it but she tells me it is going to be very expensive because it is part of the dolomites. She then explains that if you can see the dolomites you are part of it .

I am with my Dutch neighbours in a mountain village. It is actually a camping with plastic swimming pools and I try to get them out of there. They leave before me and I try to walk to town to search where they are but only come to a dead end with a small ice-cream place on each corner.

I am in a room talking to a guy. It is actually a printing workshop and we look at a group of Indonesians going with rolls over their garments to make them black with ink. Some other Indonesians come and stub them in the back. One of them is even cut in the throat but they keep on working.

I am at a bus stop and a guy explains to me that an insurance company is threatening people to force them wearing an audio recorder. The bus doesn't come and we decide to take a taxi instead with another guy. We ask an old taxi driver for the price but it is too expensive and we run away.

I am going to a night club with a friend and ask him to wait for me at a lobby so that I can get changed. I am actually wearing sandals and go to my room to put shoes on but find that my Polish friend is already in bed with his girlfriend. I then also go in bed to sleep but they decide to watch TV.

I am watching a movie showing a white man whispering to a black man how to apologize to a gangster. As the black man leaves the white man takes the gangster to his table in a beautiful dining room overlooking a modern city. The cops arrive with an helicopter an they hide under the elevator.

I am in a room alone watching a movie on a large TV screen when a dark hair girl comes in. I then pause the movie and go to the window to look down and wait that she leaves. She actually comes towards me and I tell her about the movie but she hugs me and kisses the corner of my mouth.

I am on a train going next to a lake. I am actually looking through the window at the city I see on the opposite side. There are some very nice church towers and I start thinking it is not a bad place but then the train accelerates very fast. I hold myself and realize it needs to catch up with time.

I am with a new friend in the mountains and show him the village where my Polish friend is buying a barn. I say that it is the most beautiful but he says that there are other villages below that are much nicer. We then try to eat at a restaurant but all the tables outside and on the porch are full.

I am in the big furniture shop of an Italian couple. I first think it is boring but then realize that they have built the furniture themselves. As I ask them if they have a big workshop downstairs I see that there are a lot of costumers and they are too busy to be with me and answer my questions.

I am in a kitchen cooking two small pots of soup and see that there is a potato on the side. I could add it but it is like a piece of wood cut forty five degrees. I then cut it ninety degrees and manage to put it in the bigger pot even though it is almost ready and it might not be cooking properly.

I am walking with my son and his neighbour across a river. We have to walk on stones and I manage to reach an island. I then go to the end of it and find a wooden hut. We get allowed by a guy to pass the door and I take my son inside but there is a sauna with naked girls his age.

I am walking with my best friend down a beach and seat in front of the sea. I want to film but he throws me a ball of paper. We then start singing together an Italian song and I realize that we are inside an ancient Roman sauna and there are a lot of Italians but no one wants to sing with us.

I am in a city walking with a beautiful girl. There is a lot of very nice trash on the ground but don't feel like picking it in front of her. We actually walk up a slope and reach a terrace. The sun is already down and in the distance we can see the ocean. We then kiss and I can feel her big breast.

I am part of a class and we seat in an amphitheater. I choose a step hidden in the vegetation and some friends seat higher up. They are actually called to drive some small cabriolets and immediately go down to check. I also want to drive one but they tell me I will have to wait they come back.

I am walking in a city up north with an artist. We were supposed to have an exhibition together but the museum curators only gave us some pizza. We actually had to pay our own flights but he anyway wants to move there. He asks about a city nearby and I tell him it is the most beautiful one.

I am watching a football game and see that there is a small kid after all the players. As the team gets on a bus a woman picks up the kid but the coach tells the woman behind that she cannot be wearing her burka. She then dresses up like a man and starts driving the bus from the back.

I am in a forest talking to a young guy. I tell him that my Polish friend will soon buy a barn nearby and that he can work for him. He then walks with me up the forest and we start playing with a little girl. She actually talks to him using our ancestors language and I try to memorize the words.

I am in a toilette eating blueberries while watching my old mountain neighbour. She is actually cleaning around the WC and shows me how much yellow pee there is all around. She cannot clean it up with a mop and I bend down to lift the entire WC up but she tells me that it is not necessary.

I am walking with a group of soldiers behind a small tank. We then reach a barrack where we will fight with our enemies. We need to face each other in a small room and I realize I don't have a bullet proof jacket. My spiritual friend is giving his away to the enemy and I try to buy it from them.

I am in an underground garage watching two guys playing ping pong. It is actually late in the night and the exit is closing. I then tell them to hurry up and one of the guy hits the ball really hard winning the game. As we leave I try to think why he was stronger but realize they are both Jews.

I am on a bus seating with other immigrants. As we reach the bus stop I realize that my black roommate is outside. I then go out to convince him to get on the bus but he doesn't want to. I persuade him saying that we can draw together and he accepts but then colors black over my drawings.

I am in a bombed church following the Nazi leader to the altar. All his generals are there but they seem upset with him about their defeat. As we get on the altar I salute them and everyone responds. As our leader preaches them like a priest the church roof starts collapsing and we run out.

I am watching an old submarine leaving a fort to attack the enemy ships in the horizon. I also see some ships going against them but they are too small and old. One of them manages to reach the bottom of a super modern ship and a soldier throws a rusted land mine inside making it sink.

I am preparing to take part to a long marathon and decide to leave all my equipment home. I then start crossing a very long bridge with a neighbour and realize I might get thirsty. I then drink at a fountain and keep walking on the bridge but start thinking that I might need my ID to register.

I am inside an old wooden house and realize that it is my former parents-in-law's countryside place. I then walk out and inspect the facade thinking to put some extra wooden planks between the old ones. My ex wife is also there watching and I see her father arriving with a new station wagon.

I am in a forest and walk to a car where the founder of communism is. I get him out and have him to wear a mask of himself while I wear a mask of a capitalist president. We then walk together back in the forest and see an old English soldier. We pretend to shoot at him but kill him for real.

I am watching the trailer of a movie telling the story of a boy joining a gang. I then think it is a great movie for my son and keep watching while they go by bike on a country road. There they meet an old philosopher laying in a chart and I realize that he is an actor from one of my favorite movies.

I am in a classroom ready to give a lecture about my project. I realize that some of the students are old enough to understand it and I go to the other side to set up my camera. As I double check that the microphone has a battery the teacher starts erasing the white board but it takes too long.

I am walking in my girlfriend's garden and meet my mountain neighbour's son. We hug and I bring him inside where he tells me that he bought the other half of my barn. I congratulate him but he starts spraying the room and I realize that it is poison for insects that we shouldn't be breathing.

I am in a car with my girlfriend who is driving up a straight road and we discuss about a possible trip we could do. I talk about going to the United States but she tells me that she is not interested about it. I then try to understand why and she says that she has already been there many times.

I am in a small apartment with my mother and see the name of our carpenter friend appearing on her phone. I then realize that he wants to ask me about the roof of my barn he wants to replace. I quickly tell my mother to say that I am not there but the microphone is on and he hears me.

I am walking with my girlfriend in a market place and see a truck accident down a road. We then keep walking straight but she starts talking to some gypsies. They tell her that it would be better to have a walking stick than a guy like me. I try to ignore them but they keep making fun of me.

I am in a living room with my spiritual friend. He has made a big painting and my relatives stand up to see it. It actually changes and I can see a dead girl inside. A man starts following a woman in a field to kill her and I can see her running and finally falling down killed by him with an ax.

I am in an island with my parents driving by the coast. It is very nice there but they want to go to the tourist beach. I then warn them that the only nice thing there are the swallows making their nestles on the sand dunes. They drive there anyway and we end going around a mountain forest.

I am with my girlfriend in a clothes shop. It is actually about to close but I really want to buy new pants. I find one that reaches under my knees but she wants me to buy one that reaches above. I already have many that reaches above and she gives me a normal one but it is too large.

I am in a mountain village packing a car with trash bags. As I seat inside ready to leave my neighbour also seats with me. She asks me if I liked the party from the previous evening and I see that other people are still by the BBQ. Two of them gets trays filled with fish to eat back at their place.

I am walking on a road by the sea and cross a bridge. I then seat to film and catch a missile going up in the sky but my camera has problems and the film is not so smooth. As I continue I meet some old friends and we start talking about what we do in life but only one of them has been abroad.

I am in an apartment with my mother and show her a video on my phone. It is about me and two other friends climbing a mountain when we were young. As we reach the top we seat on a dirt road above. I actually seat on the edge where there is a big pooh and my mother gets disgusted.

I am skiing in a forest. There are a lot of tracks in the snow but I know right away which one to take. I actually end up in a mountain I have never explored. I then ask a sentry how to get to another mountain but he explains that I am in a different territory. He then gets me a book about it.

I am walking in a village with my dead grandmother and my son. She tells me how beautiful it is but I only see big cement buildings standing high on the street going down. We pass by a small restaurant but it is too expensive and we walk down a field where I turn around to photograph them.

I am in a park in the middle of a city and discuss with a friend about a Norwegian friend. The latter doesn't have a place where to live and we ask a passerby if he can host him. He says no and we realize that our Norwegian friend can stay with his Japanese wife who is expecting a baby.

I am in a shop with my girlfriend and have the right change to pay the owner. He doesn't want to be paid and takes us in the back of the shop from which we can see an old building. He then shows us how they have renovated pouring concrete on one side without managing to join it.

I am outside an airport waiting in line to buy a ticket at a vending machine. It gets my turn and use the screen to select the city of destination. It is actually the wrong city and I have to abort the purchase. I then try again and I am almost doing the same mistake but then change it on time.

I am climbing a cliff and realize that I am good at it. I reach the top but need to go back down to get my pouch. I do so and manage to get up again. I am actually in a village and I ignore the map but end up in a small road going through some tourists' houses. It suddenly ends in a precipice.

I am walking with some hikers on the snow and we stop in a hut. I pull my camera out and one of them asks me what kind of camera I use. I then tell him that I only have a small one with me but at home I have a big one. He actually doesn't like the brand and I admit that there is a better one.

I am with some girls landing at an airport. One of them has done one year exchange like me and we start talking about it. As we get inside the airport I walk with the group of girls down to the exit but she keeps walking on the first floor. We ask an hostess and realize we have to go back up.

I am in line to go down a water slide and show people a girl with a long red beard. It is soon my turn to go down the slide but a guy goes before me and hit two kids below me. As I walk away from the slide two other kids accuse me to have killed one of the kids. I will have to go to jail for it.

I am in a classroom attending a lecture. It is getting noon and I am supposed to go to another classroom and talk about my project. I then ask the teacher but she tells me that she expected me to talk about my project there. I then have to wait for her to finish and give a very short presentation.

I am in a military barrack talking to some soldiers. One of them is very weak and starts saying that he was thinking about committing suicide. We are actually in a poor country and it turns out that he is giving most of his salary to support some families there and he only keeps alive to do that.

I am with my stepfather walking down a field. We actually enter a garage where he has all his tools and he shows me that there is actually another room. The grass has grown really high there but he manages to get me the trimmer and tells me to cut while he talks to a big native Indian man.

I am in my girlfriend's place and we seat in the kitchen while my spiritual friend seats on the sofa. I am actually talking about using a memory card to put it on a small boat in the river and let it float by itself. My friend then wants to give me his card and erase all the memory he has inside.

I am walking with my son in the forest and let him decide where to go. I actually cannot orient myself anymore and start worrying but suddenly see that there is an opening on one side. I can see some houses at the bottom and realize that there is an asphalt road intersecting our dirt road.

I am in a classroom seating with other students and listening to the assignment we are getting from two female teachers. We have discussed a building module for a condominium and they show us a model they got out of a 3D printer. There is no balcony on the top and I get angry about it.

I am watching a commercial about a new racing car. It shows the facilities where normal cars are transformed into robotic cars. The factory is in a big city and it is small but they manage to transform the cars in the middle and test them going around the perimeter even though it is dangerous.

I am in an apartment with my parents and walk in the kitchen with my old shoes on. I actually have new white laces but they are too long. As I try to figure out where I got them from I see my mother walking with white shoes. Also my stepfather has them and I see that the lace is like mine.

I am in the corridor of a school and meet my favorite Russian author. I am actually with another of his fan and we both have one of his big books. We open it and he tells us to write a summary about it. I then write a poem about a lady in a laundry machine but realize he wanted a real essay.

I am with my mother walking in a field where my stepfather is about to compete for a marathon. We see him with the other participants at the start and walk to my mother car. I get inside and she lift it from the front but it starts rolling against the crowd and I don't know how to set the brake.

I am with my son in the mountains putting a cover on the swimming pool. I stretch it too much and I hear it breaking. I then look if anyone has heard it and realize that there is the son of my neighbours with his friends. He doesn't care and jump in the swimming pool even with the cover on.

I am with a group of students visiting a city but it is getting too warm and I ask one of the guides if we can go back to our hotel to leave our jackets. He agrees and I tell the students that are too warm to follow me. I then take out my camera and try to photograph their faces but they avoid me.

I am in the countryside and see that my ex wife is building a barn with cement bricks. I ask her why she did not allow me to build my museum. My son is also complaining about the goats they have and I take him out on the old rail road. We bike and reach a very cool town I didn't know of.

I am on a bus going on a highway and look at a commercial for cheap flights. I memorize the name but a new billboard with a new commercial shows the same service but from a different company. The name is too hard to memorize and I realize we are going on a long bridge over the ocean.

I am in my car with my girlfriend and she drives too close to the mountains. I actually want to go to the sea and we stop to check at the map. She shows me a Swiss lake we could go to but I come up with a nice place along the east coast. As we decided to go there I see another place to the west.

I am inside an abandoned church and see the priest coming in holding a tire hanged on a rope. He is repetitively making it bouncing on the floor producing a sound warning poor people that the service is starting. One of them is seating by the altar and starts playing on an old percussion.

I am at the edge of a forest and see a car parked on a dirt road. There is an old and fat woman laying bounded on top and I realize that an old fat guy is about to rape her. He gets on the car and I see his big testicles and the shabby breast of the lady coming out as he tries to penetrate her.

I am in a house and my girlfriend comes to the kitchen holding a baby. I realize that it is our baby and I look at her eyes. They are actually like those of my girlfriend but I anyway take her in my arms and start taking photos of us feeling very happy about having become a father.

I am in a student dormitory and get out in the corridor to pee. It is the middle of the night and a Russian girl is coming out of the shower. She has her t-shirt up and I can see her black bra. Her bubs are big and I hug her right around her breast but she takes me in her room only to talk.

I am in my mountain field with my girlfriend cutting pine trees. We actually take away some trees from another forest and I try to be fast. As I reach the end I turn around and realize that we made a straight road although the base of the pines are still there and we will need to remove them.

I am at a university walking down a corridor and reach the office of a Russian colleague. She starts telling me about a video she is making on formula one racing cars but then my Polish friend comes and takes me to his studio on the opposite side. He tells me how she has stolen his idea.

I am walking with Polish friend to a beach up north but he forgot his equipment back home. We then turn back and realize that there is a river we need to cross. It was easy when we first crossed it but now I find myself on top of a very high stone in the middle and cannot go down from it.

I am looking at a movie about a Roman army that has to face a barbarian army. They decide to resolve the conflict with a duel and a small Roman kid is picked. He then goes with a black slave to put his armour on but there are many barbarian kids attacking and his rescued by a knight.

I am walking with my girlfriend up a road to our mountain cottage. As we arrive there I realize that it is a dormitory and that my Ukrainian colleague is inside. We brought him a bag of clothes for his son but forgot his small bike. He then takes his racing bike and go the wrong way to pick it.

I am in a monastery and walk to the cloister. All my colleagues are there but I try to avoid them. My boss is also in one corner and I realize he asked me if we could have met. I thought I didn't have time but I do now. I actually need to catch a plane and walk to the opposite corner avoiding him.

I am walking in a mall and pass some girls. One of them is very beautiful and looks at me in the eyes. I then realize that my hair are wet and I must be looking handsome myself. I walk forward and find a stand with hair gel samples and pick one. I squeeze out a lot of yellow gel and put it on.

I am walking in a big garage and have to keep it next to the wall. There is actually a large fabric on the main part of the garage and as I keep walking towards the exit I look at a guy working with an Arab girl to measure it. They come almost to the end but he misses to measure the very last bit.

I am out in a village with some friends celebrating. We decide to eat pancakes and one of them takes us to a big private house. I then get afraid we are doing something illegal but the owner is a friend of her and we go in. They are actually preparing cookies for us but they all fell asleep waiting.

I am walking down the stairs to a club and see that the one I am supposed to go to is closed. There is another one open on the opposite side and I go in holding my camera under my shirt. I actually have a book with me and I try to find a spot where to seat on the ground but see my colleagues.

I am in a ground floor small apartment preparing my suitcase for me and my son. We have many containers with liquid inside and I put them all in one bag but then realize that it is not going to be checked-in. I then quickly move the liquids in another bag and go out to catch a taxi.

I am in the mountains walking in my street and realize that my neighbours are going to shower in an old building. I then follow their son inside and realize that it is a whole new renovated bathroom. It should be a bathroom for everyone in the street but my neighbours took all for themselves.

I am in a big airplane seating by the window with a fat guy on my side. There is some turbulence and I explain to him that it is because we are landing. We then take some food out to eat but the hostess come with a tray of food for each one of us and we realize we are now too full to eat it.

I am in a station looking for which train to take. I am not sure and I look on my phone but forget to photograph it. There are too many people and too little time for it. I then walk down to the platform and the right train arrives. I get it and want to photographs but it is also too crowded.

I am in a small public library at the ground floor of a skyscraper waiting for my ex wife. She is running late and I go for a walk but see her car approaching. I then go inside and she gives me the password for the library internet. She pastes it many time and I realize that she has changed it.

I am in a field talking to my mountain neighbour's son. I tell him about the barn that my Polish friend wants to renovate it and look at the flat land below us. As I realize that we are not so high and there is another barn to be renovated he tells me that we should follow the official procedures.

I am in a royal palace and walk in a room with an auditorium. I then take a seat and an opera concerts starts. It is my favorite song and I start crying but there is an iron ladder attached on the chair in front of me and I cannot take a proper picture. I try to dismantle it and find a screw.

I am reaching my barn at night and try to unlock the main door but my girlfriend has used two locks. I really have to pee and I do so on the side of the barn but a guy with a hood arrives. I then explain to him that I am the owner of the barn and several other buildings across the fields.

I am in the bike shop of an old boy-scout friend and wait for a man to finish talking to him. The latter asks for a bag to put in the back of his bike and my friend bikes to the next room and brings him a rolled up rope. He than asks how much he owes him but he still have to pay for the bike.

I am in an ancient Italian city and meet two guys from a center region. I feel quite bored there and ask them what places I should visit with my girlfriend. One guy tells me about one place I absolutely should visit but then the other guy tells me a lot of other places and I forget the first one.

I am in my mountain village talking to my neighbours' daughters. The lady who sold me the apartment is also there and I tell them that it is too dark and ugly. I then start walking by myself up a hill and feel that they are still watching me. I want to reach my pasture where they can't see me.

I am in bar playing a on a flipper machine and press the buttons so fast that I manage to win. A new game gets loaded and I have to make ball rolling against thousands of smaller balls. I manage to throw many down but it is not enough and I have to go back winning a big chocolate ball.

I am in my girlfriend's kitchen looking at the cat who wants to go outside. There is another cat out and I try to keep ours inside but he manages to also go out. The two cats go inside the sand box and I take my camera to photograph their faces sticking together in front of the transparent door.