

I am at my grandfather's place watching TV in the living room. It is actually very late and he is going to bed. I am also going to bed and he asks me if I want to sleep with him. I try to find an excuse even if I know that I will regret it since he will soon die and I will never sleep with him anymore.

I am at home and pick some black bike gloves from a big white shelf going across the room. I just went to buy them and find that they are really good. Suddenly I remember that I already have some yellow bike gloves in the countryside and these black ones were just a waste of money.

I am with a group of girls and pass by a place making very good pizzas. We actually don't stop there and go to the next door where there is a restaurant. They also have pizzas on the counter and I can tell that they are backed from the other place. I would like to have some but we seat at a table.

I am seating at the very end of a bus with a friend but there is a violent guy next to him who starts hitting him. We then move to the front right opposite to some nice girls. I stretch my legs and my friend thinks that I am trying to seduce a girl but I am actually about to take a nap.

I am alone in the living room and get a small erection thinking of a film I was watching. It was very long and I interrupted it at the scene when a blond farmer woman shows one of her big tits. I like to watch from there but avoid it since my family is sleeping in the next room.

I am in my parents' old garage cleaning my bike with a long bandage. Suddenly the garage starts closing and I see that my kid is seating on a scooter right close to it. He gets really scared but there is nothing to worry and I start wiping the dust off of it so that a relative of mine can use it.

I am with some friends taking me to an old city on the lagoon. I haven't been there for many years and I notice a newly constructed research center. It resembles an American university but much smaller. The building following it is actually much bigger with allot of modern cranes at work.

I am looking at a publication that a friend of mine made in Brazil with other students. It is a project they did in a waterfall and I recognize that two of them where in my swimming team. I then realize that I am talking to my old Brazilian friend and he just used allot of tea leaves to make his tea.

I am with some friends going to fetch a bus and we decide to go through Chinatown and buy some snacks. We actually stop in a bar and I order a can of sparkling orange juice. It is very expensive but I take it anyway and it turns out really good with honey in the bottom.

I am in a room with allot of sharp knives exhibited on a table. There are actually allot of kids and I be careful that they don't pick up any. An Indian guy has a big one and I punch him even though he was just going to put it back. He is actually okay with the punch and doesn't take any revenge.

I am at a birthday party of young American and his father comes in with the cake. The candles blow off and he has to light them again but then they start to sing a cowboy birthday song. I have never heard it before but I really like it and decide to keep it also for my birthdays.

I am walking up a mountain with my curator friend and end up in the small studio of an Asian painter. He wants to make his portrait and asks me to start. I then paint a circle on the canvas to do his face but it is too oily. My friend actually likes it and says that we can make allot of money.

I wake up in the villa of a rich man and find him already awake. He is eating Sicilian pastry and talking to another guy about his boat. I then pretend to be interested and choose the best shirt I have to go sailing with him but I only find an old one that is synthetic and have short sleeves.

I go with an art collector to look at the gallery where I am exhibiting small paintings on paper. He really likes those on one wall but I find one hanging on a column more interesting. It is a nice green apple but when we walk towards it I find that someone has scratched his signature on the paint.

I am walking up to the stage of a conference and a mulatto guy tells me to speak more about my photo project. I then set up my little computer but the projection cable is below the stage. I then use the Internet cable but a black interface appears and the slot to the memory card is blocked.

I am below a condominium trying to read an important e-mail. I can't access my account and ask a girl I know from the top floor if I can access it from her computer. She then stands in the terrace and I manage to look at the screen but then decide that it is not safe.

I am out in an open tent when an old friend comes. I suddenly remember that I should have prepared food for him too but we have already eaten. I have a big pot of soup and give him some of that with some cold fish. I put the latter on top of the warm soup so that it can also get warm.

My wife and I get in our summer cottage and find a girl in the kitchen. She is preparing her bed on the wooden bench since other guests took her place in the winter cottage. We then go in the lavatory to look for my shoes and find that she could have slept but she must have being too scared.

A small group of soldiers is driving alone in the jungle. It is too dangerous but one of them wants to continue all the way to the battle line. He then continues on foot down a slope and see that someone is following him. He thinks it is one of his fellow soldiers and does not suspect the enemies.

I am attending the lecture of a French professor when she tells me to give an account of my parents' alarm system. As I describe how even the windows have sensors she moves in another room with the rest. I then also follow them and find that she just wanted me to stay away from all the ham.

I am walking down the main street of an American city when I meet an Arab taxi driver asking for help. I then take him to my place in a very high condominium but my wife tells me that we are about to have guests and I should buy meatballs. He then asks me if he can just leave his bag there.

I am the chief of a big kitchen when my mother calls. I am little and cannot reach the counter but then a chef from the other side hands me the phone. She is very angry for the noise we are making and I promise her that we will be quiet. I then go to talk to my kid and his friends in a machine.

I am doing a course with some students and tell them to animate a three dimensional character. One of them is actually really skilled and can already rotate a dinosaur. I then let them alone but when I come back I see that they have only done allot of solids without animating them.

I am with my son outside his school where his classmates are learning how to ride an horse. He actually doesn't want to and I take him inside to his English teacher. She tells me to leave him there but I see that he is starting to cry and I don't know what to do any more.

A business man is showing the city mayor how he has renovated an old neighborhood. The brick walls are like new but the mayor is not interested and asks him to take him to his place nearby. The business man has lived there all his life and it is the only one that was not renovated.

My stepfather is giving me a ride to Austria where I have a conference. It is actually a long way and I feel pity for my little sister who has to seat in the car for so long. They actually announce a very cheap flight on the radio and I write down the name even though it is too late.

I am walking with my parents in a valley with small mountains surrounding it. There are actually rounded stones on the ground and my stepfather tells me that there used to be a big river covering it entirely. I then look at the rocks on the mountain side and see that they are also rounded.

I am hiking with my friends but it gets dark and they decide to go back. The map shows that we are actually close to a cottage and I get really upset. We then climb down a ladder and end up in a hostel where I get to share a bunk bed with my Polish friend. I take the bed above that is harder.

I am seating on a rock outside the college where I used to teach and meet an old Japanese student. I then clap him in the shoulder but he is with another friend and they keep walking. They actually have allot of fun together and they even stop to do a special dance movement.

I just made love with my wife and she lays in bed with allot of sperm on her inner legs. She then tells me to go look on a shelf and get her a spray to kill them. I know it is small and blue but I cannot find it anywhere even though she is giving me precise instructions.

I am walking with a young couple in my old city that is dark. I propose them to get to a bigger city that is more interesting but we stop out of a pub. The guy gets a hot dog and starts eating but it is too big for him and leave a big piece even if there is aluminum foil and he could save it for later.

I am on a very modern train with my son looking for his mother. We then reach the end of the wagon and meet the ticket controller. There are allot of stamps on our tickets and he doesn't want to check them. We can't actually open the door and he shows us how. In the next wagon is my wife.

I take two friends to meet my old friends and we seat around a big table. There is also an old classmate who is really ugly and doesn't seat. He is actually eating a big pear and I find that he has a hard on. I then tease him saying that every time he eats a pear he gets an hard on.

I am in a bedroom with an old girlfriend but she cannot sleep. I then go to the kitchen and prepare some cookies for her breakfast. As I go out to give them to her I find her in another bedroom with my cousin. She has felt asleep and now lays on the floor with only an old blanket.

I meet my uncle on an empty road and tell him that it is the last time we will see us. I then join a big protest going against the city. A man watches a channel on TV broadcasting our speeches and also joins us going through a mall with all shops closed. We meet that we are already scattered.

A poor man dressing like a priest visits a rich man. He then lays behind him with his beautiful lover pretending like he wants to kiss her. He actually just wants her necklace that was once belonging to his wife but was given to the rich man as a debt. She rises and he doesn't manage to steal it.

I am in a living room talking to a guy who has just been living in America. He was actually the room mate of a friend who I really liked. The latter was always nice to me but the guy tells me that he was obnoxious. I then ask him about his girlfriend and he tells me just the same.

I am walking with my cousin on the main street and see his old girlfriend on the other side. She is actually waiting for me and I pretend like dropping my phone but then get to her and we hug. I can feel her big breast and find that we are actually kissing in the dark entrance of an apartment.

We have an American guest home telling my wife about a criminal killing immigrants. I then lay a blanket on the floor and let them seat. She asks me about my work and I start telling her about it but get distracted by his husband playing a weird water pipe. He actually has his all band there.

I am walking down a field but find that it is divided in many sections with different kind of cows inside. My way is blocked and I try to cross one that is less dangerous. As I am about to do it a young black bull manages to jump the electric fence and get in it attacking the brown cows.

I am walking with my old friends on a green mountain pasture. We suddenly come in front of allot of big mountain tops. I recognize the very last one but we decide to climb the first. It is actually a ski slope with snow and my best friend starts running up the steepest track in the dark forest.

I am competing with my sister in a marathon and give her a big distance. I actually arrive first and go to my apartment where my American professor is living with his daughter. We start talking and I show him the storyboard I am making for a film but there are just abstract paintings.

I am supposed to go to a conference but decide to go out exploring the city. On my way of the campus I meet a family friend and his brother who holds my hand asking me for directions to the conference. I free myself and keep walking so that he doesn't see my face and recognize me.

I am in a packed metro seating between two blond girls. I have two drum sticks and pretend to be good with them but can't. As I keep trying a man in the wagon starts singing a rock song. We get out together and I congratulate him. We have the same American jacket but my English is broke.

My wife is naked in the bedroom and we make love standing on the wall. As we finish my son's friends come in and I have to go to the bathroom to clean my sperms. We actually had an offer from my parents to start a bike rental shop in my native mountains and I think on how to tell my wife.

I am driving a car with allot of horses connected behind. I am actually lost and stop to ask a group of people. A Mexican lady shows me the way to the right highway and I start driving but don't know if it is too fast for the horses. There is actually another car going faster with horses behind.

I am walking with my father-in-law and the mayor who is showing us his big garden. I actually propose him to plant some potatoes but he doesn't say anything. We then go home and I start drawing but my father-in-law reproaches me saying that I should go plant the potatoes for the mayor.

I am in the countryside looking at a local newspaper for my photos but find an article about some new jobs in the city. My father-in-law has actually written down other jobs I could apply for. I then look through his papers and find a diamond that my mother-in-law is giving back to me.

I am at a friend's place and she tells me about some clothes I forgot the last time I was there. It is only a t-shirt and shorts but I wear them anyway even though I had nicer clothes on. I then ask her if she is having any success contacting art galleries but she tells me that she has not managed.

I am in a changing room with a fat guy wanting to beat up my best friend. He is actually not that strong and I get ready to punch him instead. I can't really reach him and we finally lay down to rest side by side. As we are falling asleep he suddenly wakes up and starts punching me in the neck.

I am on the shore of an old city constructed on the water. There are some locals there and one of them explains how he works in a grocery shops. I then realize that I am actually eating a piece of cheese I got from him but it is now too old and hard. Meantime a little ferry arrives with his friend.

I am in an apartment with some Italian guys inviting us for dinner. As I get a Christmas cake to bring one of them listens to my parents' answering machine. Someone wished them a bad new year and I explain that it was a guy who was once an karate champion but then got his leg amputated.

I am walking in the small garden of an old condominium and read that an apartment is actually belonging to the church. I get in and find a little empty chapel where I start to pray God. I suddenly feel him coming within me and can barely make it outside for how shocked I am.

I am reading an hand written note of a nun who had to leave for a poor country. They actually need volunteers and she made a list of different kind of professions. There are many positions for doctors and I try to see if they need any artist but can't find any.

I am walking in an ancient city but the street I want to cross is flooded with a nice blue water. I then look around and see a very beautiful church where I want to go. I turn to film it but there is a window cleaner with his boyfriend kissing. I film anyway and keep them on the side of the frame.

I am going in an ancient museum but have to make it through a security control. A policeman slides his bomb detector against my naked legs and pulls all my hairs. I finally make it inside but have to go through a long corridor and then in a seminar room where the security exits are explained.

I am driving in East Europe and see that it is the same kind of woods as up north. The county houses are actually much bigger and there is a black iron fence around them. I keep driving and turn in a church that has a boulevard in between the two main buildings but it is closed at then end.

My Polish friend takes me to his grandmother's village. It is very old but her house is new and she lives with two of her daughters. One of them is really small and she cooks some flat bread for me. I actually go to the basement to play a song with my friend's guitar but she reaches me there.

It is a beautiful day and I am with some Palestinian students resting on the floor of an hotel room. One of them hugs me and we go out in the terrace to talk. She is very beautiful but looks too young even though she is doing her last year of high school. I then propose to go out in the fields.

I am waiting for a bus when I get a phone call from a man I thought dead. He tells me to take the bus on the other side of the street. I go there but it is all written in German and a group of veterans come out marching. I am really impressed with their height and imagine when they were at war.

I am in a research institute when a blond guy comes to deliver a bomb. They open for him anyway and I run to the door to see what happens. A girl with black hairs comes in instead of him and as I take her for a tour around the laboratories she spreads allot of small black devils on my head.

I am in a class when I see that some important guests from Germany are looking at us. I then go around and look at what my students have done. They are actually my old classmates working on some nice ceramic tiles. One of them has managed to print a satellite image with beautiful colors.

I am walking on a sidewalk dragging my small trolley and pass by a small second hand shop. They sell small music tapes inside and I explain the owner that my trolley is full. She doesn't actually sell them but only gives them as gifts. I take mine out anyway and leave saying farewell in French.

My son and I reach the top of a small ski resort. He then decides to go down the steepest slope even though there is an easier one on the side. I follow him and we make it to the bottom where our van is parked. The window of the car behind has been broken and I insist to get in leave at once.

I am in a playground fighting with my son's little Mexican classmate. I tell him to get a stick to duel against me but he takes a small tree and I jump on him before he hits me. I manage to get him down by a slide but he says that it is not fair and I should have done it out where it is more open.

I am positioning a small virtual character inside a room. I make him seat at a small desk and realize that it is close to the exit. I then zoom out and find that the room is inside a Greek temple. As I zoom even more I find that an American house is nearby and I can go in there.

I am home preparing to get married once more. My wife has her dress on but then decides to wear normal clothes. I also start wearing my ordinary clothes and go to show her. I have a nice sweater on but I can see on the mirror that there is a big hole behind it. It is actually my sister's wedding.

Three men are suspended on the elevated metro of a big American city. One of them can jump from one cable to another but suddenly gets really tired. He is about to let go when an helicopter comes to rescue them. They get a rope with no hook but they manage to tie that around their foot.

I am in a dark apartment for new years eve and meet a girl I kissed the year before. I remind her that but she gets offended and leaves. I then look on the phone at my calendar to see that I am right but realize that I will soon have a very boring meeting with an important person.

I am sleeping with a very good old friend when he suddenly wakes me up. He is already awake even though it is very early. He actually gives me a toothbrush and I understand that I should brush his ass but he wants me to brush under his feet. I then do it and find that they really smell.

I am at a party with the American president when a guy tells us to line up. He then prepares in front of us and starts running but suddenly stumbles. He crashes against our line and we all fall down. I am one of the last and the others accuse me that I didn't hold on to them.

My Greek friend is seating on an old stone wall holding a video camera. I am standing right in front of it sketching a relief for him but can't draw the entire tree behind him and ask him if it is okay. I actually drew the video camera upside down and redraw it so that it is facing me.

It is already dark out and I am inside a bus with my old friends. One of then is two seats in front of me with his girlfriend and I can hear their conversation. He is telling her how he got drunk and pucked in a public toilette but I would also like to add how he was drinking from it before he did it.

It is late at night and I sled over my parents car and then on another one. It is actually an old car I bought and I now think that it was a good investment. Suddenly my sister comes out of the window worrying that everything is okay. It has been a long time I haven't seen her and she got shabby.

I get to a friend's studio on the top floor of an abandoned factory to pierce my ear. He shows me different kinds of earring and we decide for a purple one that matches my shirt. He then makes a hole and I leave but notice on a mirror that the piercing is really sticking out on the edge of my ear.

A team of black guys is playing basketball and loosing. Two of them manages to get in the other team's apartment and steal some points. They lay in the dark thinking of stealing more but then decide to make it back to their own apartment and think about a new strategy. They manage safely.

My wife and I are walking down a big bridge with my kid. We are actually going to a church right below and we find a monk waiting outside. I then look for my son's fur hat so that he can give us a good blessing but can't find it. We go in anyway and I show him the smoke but the lights turn off.

A man dresses up like a scuba diver and gets in a large aquarium with his wife and a surgeon. They have pipes connected to his lungs and suck his air up. The surgeon then starts taking sushi out of his heart but one of his eye is still alive and he can hear his wife telling bad things about him.

I reach my old friends in a parking lot and announce my birthday. They all then go to the restaurant and leave me alone with a shabby friend. He should give me a ride with his motorcycle but there is snow on the ground and I just run after him. He actually crashes at the first turn up hill.

I am in an apartment with my wife suggesting me an art school. As I pick some salad from a vase and discover some smaller plants I notice that my kid is outside. He has no one to play tennis with and has been waiting down the terrace but I don't know how to get him up again.

I walk down to a café where my uncle is working with his laptop. He asks me if it is true that I own money to my Chinese boss. I just then see that he is also in the room seating at the very end with his laptop. Instead of answering my uncle I go up to him and start jelling and insulting.

My wife and I are getting late to our flight but finally reach the terminal. My English supervisor is already there and introduces us his wife. I touch her hands but then hurry to the check in. We still haven't bought the tickets and a native American explains that the price and fees have gone up.

I get in line at the supermarket even if I still have to get some other stuff. It is not much grocery but the cashier wants allot of money. I then take it all out and mark the most expensive items on the receipt. There is actually a set of expensive vases that my wife got but we don't really need.

I am with an old friend when my father tells us to follow him to a second hand shop. It is an old saloon filled with old bags and stuff we don't really need. There are actually some bad people with knives and we get out where my friend left his car keys. They are still there and he kisses them.

I show to a Portuguese curator a small sculpture based on a walk I took. I then show him a map of a bigger walk from when I was in America. There are allot of buildings drawn on it and he asks me about one. I actually can't remember what it was and when I look closer I find that it is Chinese.

I am on a beach doing a workshop and I make a drawing for each chapter of a book. As I am on the last one the other participants ask me to write a description. Before I do that I get a shorter socket for an electric piano. I then use a new plug but it has two extra connections and doesn't fit.

I am in a friend's house doing the dishes and telling him about our time in America. I actually start missing it an call a friend there to ask him to join us with his family to a museum. I immediately hang up remembering that we are in Europe but see pictures of my son when we were still there.

I am talking on the phone to a curator friend who is now in New Zealand. He is going to take a boat to the States and we decide to meet on the East Coast but I realize that he will disembark West and has to travel across. It is not a problem and he tells me that he will be coming on a Saturday.

I am in an empty parking place on top of a building. There balls from people playing tennis on a lower building and I go to fetch them but a player manages to extend his arm and get them. There is a ball at the very end of the parking that he cannot get and I go to fetch that one instead.

I am inside the attic of my stepfather's boss and go through his closets. As I find one empty a girl with her tits out comes nearby. She is actually my best friend's Malaysian girlfriend and I start fucking her on the sofa. As he tells me that she cannot have babies I come inside her.

I am with my father and brother-in-law in a tropical island. We are about to go out of our bungalow and they start discussing whether or not we should spray on a malaria repellent. I then look at a map and realize that we are still in a sanctuary nearby the oldest Christian cemetery ever built.

I wake up in a caravan that there are workers gathering outside. Among them is an old friend and I also put a uniform on to show him that I have things to do. There is actually a congestion in the sink and the water is spread out to the vegetable garden. I walk to it and water the salad plants.

I am seating at a restaurant with an old friend when we see another friend in a nearby table. We wave at him and he recognizes my friend but jumps up when he sees me. He immediately comes to greet me when another friend arrives and gets really surprise to see me.

I am in a soccer team distributing on the field. It is actually the wrong side and I tell everyone to swap. I end up the only one in defense with the goal keeper and we start throwing raw rice to the team on the opposite side. It is little left in the pot and I tell him to save it for when they attack.

I am in the kitchen listening to my father talking to my uncle. He is repeating what he already told me and I get very angry. My uncle too gets bored and suddenly stands up and goes home to sleep. My sister then tells me that he will come back in the middle of the night to pick us up for a trip.

I am in a small studio doing work on a large monitor for my wife. Suddenly a large image of some soldiers shows up on the screen. It is actually from an old classmate who is doing a film and comes in to edit it. I then remember that we once made a film together but he got really angry with me.

I am in a pub and meet an artist with his daughter. She just got a grant to spend three weeks in Sicily and she asks me if I want to join her with her daughter. I accept and she says that we can get engaged but then I go home and don't answer her e-mail forwarding all the information.

I am helping my grandfather to backup from a cottage with an old station wagon. He almost hits the wooden fence but manages to come out. I then get on the car and we drive through a big parking lot. I try to tell him where to park but he drives between other cars and almost hits them.

I am playing a small piano of a famous artist but realize that it is without the black keys. They are actually on the table and I start inserting them among the white keys. As I am almost done I realize that I made a mistake and do the last octave again. A key doesn't get in and I find it broken.

I am in a small city that it is already dark and walk with my wife to a parking lot. She then asks me if I would to go back and live there and I tell her that it is okay with me as long as we have a job. She actually could apply to be a research assistant but it would be a step back in her career.