

11207: "picking trash still in the netherlands and particularly in utrecht before driving to italy and stopping both in belgium and later in france finding almost no trash on the sidewalk despite walking a long time particularly in strasbourg and collecting trash in italy mostly while with myrthe and livia"

11208: "picking trash now mostly being left with livia alone after arguing with my mother and walking alone through vicenza and venice finding many discarded labels from the morning market and later more tourist fliers"

07148: "again taking advantage of the winter weather outside and of myrthe spending some time home with livia to make a new painting and going for a full colour palette and more complicated shapes"

12159: "reading the news at least once a week searching for casualties and reading about many attacks and fights but also about a big catastrophe killing hundreds in brazil"

03114: "listening songs driving to the ardenne with cas and then driving through france and to florian in southern germany before spending a week working in the mountains in total silence and then picking myrthe and livia in verona and staying by lake garda listening to songs both in the bed and breakfast and in the car driving to get august in milan and also singing songs to livia to make her sleep and lastly listening to songs at the radio during new years eve while at my friend francesco"

04117: "having a hard time to readapt to my life in the netherlands especially with the bad winter weather and feeling once again as too far from the physical realization of my project but at last seeing the good results i get from working on the actual content and focusing mostly on it and also getting more charged towards the end resuming yoga after many years and laso enjoying the company of little livia becoming more and more a kid"

11206: "picking trash in holland taking advantage of some nice days particularly one left alone walking in rotterdam but mostly collecting trash walking around culemborg with livia"

08096: "writing a fable now still dedicating regularly every evening to it before going to bed and thinking of a walrus seen in a documentary and coming to a direct confrontation with humans and global warming at large"

07149: "another painting executed now with livia crawling around and keeping it very simple with a lot of yellow and black contrasting each other making it a point to stick to only two layers and fixing details on the computer"

13172: "filming now taking advantage of the last sunny days before several snow falls and filming far less now going out with livia with culemborg covered in snow" and later also filming in rotterdam and back in culemborg with no snow"

09089: "now being a little stuck indoor with much winter weather out but getting a lot of thoughts walking alone with livia in the stroller also thinking of my isolated situation and the frictions with my mother's rich family"

10122: "getting to know better my swedish colleagues and photographing them during one of the last conferences together in stockholm and also photographing a german girl and a south america guy met at the hostel where i spend the nights after renting out my apartment"

02164: "a period watching too many series and and waking up too early in the morning to work thus not remembering so many dreams and often having them affected by the very series now also loosing the outdoor scenery of my mountain village and mostly having dreams taking place indoor reflecting my life here in the netherlands"

16131: "a period with snow and bad weather in the netherlands forcing livia and i indoor but slowly getting better with at last some beautiful days spent outside with almost a sudden spring expecially experienced going to berlin and meeting august there and with him walking around the city without any jacket"

18127: "a harsh month with a lot of wind and only a few day of calmness trying to anyway go out with little livia but having to keep inside many days in a row until experiencing almost no wind towards the end particularly after going on holiday to berlin"

13173: "filming at first in den bosch walking with livia and myrthe despite the wind and then filming walking around culemborg and the surrounding countryside taking advantage of beautiful sunny days and finding the same good weather in berlin filming there extensively after walking for more than seven hours around the city with myrthe and livia but also august"