

06142: "finally managing with great effort to put all the metal bars of the cube installation on the ground and welding them with my back quite in pieces having to constantly move them and make sure that they keep the level"

08102: "improvising the story of a krill with a binary intelligence somewhat symbolizing the rise and fall of humans within the computer generated social frameworks"

12167: "many minor terror related attacks all around the world and riots and protests with victims but also a big ebola outbreak in congo not really talked about in the media"

09099: "recording a bit of my thoughts while walking with livia around in mestre in empty roads and back in the netherlands also recording but feeling quite out of focus with several issues feeling my head mostly concerning disputes with my neighbour hunters in the mountains and my tenants in venice"

07164: "painting executed now in a simple fashion letting go to the blue flow and following the entire flow of all the colours from the previous painting"

07165: "painting executed now taking advantage of livia long afternoon naps and almost not having any blue flow across it but continuing the flow of the other primary colours and spending quite some time smoothing the borders digitally"

18131: "experiencing some ok weather in the mountains but then having to be locked in the apartment with a terrible snow storm in the middle of the spring and experiencing later some cold wind while working on my installation making it difficult to weld and then again a day of powerful wind and rain before going to milan on a sunny day only experiencing the wind channeling in the high buildings and finally coming back to the netherlands with a much more pleasant weather yet some wind making it hard to bike"

16135: "a terrible spring experienced in italy especially in the mountains with snow storms and only a few days of sun allowing to work on my installation and feeling quite cold at night and getting a little warmer weather reaching livia and myrthe in mestre but experiencing a lot of rain there and finally going back to a more mighty netherlands with some sunny days and some colder gray ones"

05135: "at first walking only from my mountain apartment to the field of my cube installation with the snow and the mud not allowing me to use my tractor and then walking both in venice and in vicenza also exploring the nice town of brendola making it on top of the hills to see some ruins and spending a whole day in milan walking extensively from the station all the way through the cimitero monumentale and across the ugly western suburbs till in the end making it back to the netherlands and walking here both in culemborg as well as taking a long walk with livia across utrecht"

13182: "filming of public spaces resumed after weeks spent in the mountains not really exploring and now filming with livia in mestre despite the bad weather and walking to the city center several times before going back to holland and walking there with her both in culemborg but also in utrecht reaching the parks where to feed her and change her and lastly also talking a nice stroll with myrthe home from work in den bosch"

15120: "having to stop working at my installation in the mountains now experiencing traffic at my parents in vicenza beside days of rain with no traffic and experiencing a lot of traffic in milan during a day spent there and then again staying with livia in mestre with a lot of rain and no traffic till at last boarding in venice breathing a lot of gasoline on the bus waiting to board the plane and finally back in fresh netherlands only breathing some traffic while in utrecht and another day while walking with livia in amsterdam and beside that biking a lot in the almost empty roads"

09100: "recording thoughts now walking with livia around culemborg but also while walking in bigger city like in utrecht and amsterdam and not feeling unable to fully elaborate my thoughts mostly feeling afraid to be heard by others"

06143: "still dismantling the scaffolding in the mountain installation and fixing up the field before making it back to the netherlands and resuming my biking there at first going with myrthe and livia but not really reaching high enough heart beat and then going on my racing bike speeding quite fast despite the wind"

06144: "biking still alone making it now all the way to utrecht to check the gay pride there and biking back in the same day finding some good energy despite not having biked so much in the last months"

12168: "back in the netherlands checking the news even more than twice a day finding several hidden headlines about casualties all around the world and some main headlines of casualties with several accidents and a few minor terror attacks"

06145: "biking to cas and petra forest house this time with myrthe and livia and a chart in the back of the bike to carry the latter along with food and water supplies and going quite fast there but finding it very hard on the way back with the chart being blocked by the wind and having to go very slow"