

RECOVERING Through his spiritual operation the documenting subject has come to recover the ancient manual approach that the latter mechanical approach has come to forbid, thus rebuilding a primordial understanding with the secrets of nature.

NOMAD It is not that the documenting subject wants to be nomad but he is forced to be so given the disappreciation of his life project by any of the local authorities he comes in touch with.

RENEGADE While partially being kicked out of many social frameworks for his natural aspirations and partially leaving himself felling sick of their corruption, the documenting subject has ultimately devised the platform for a most sustainable life learning all needed to carry on even after the collapse of civilization.

PROVIDENT As others may loose much of their generated data the documenting subject is most careful in compacting it and backing it up in several ways keeping it the main copy next to his belly as a pregnant woman.

MECHANIC The documenting subject has come to the conclusion that the established machines empty out any level of humanity even when like in a religious or academic institution they should deal about it. On the other hand is machine been more ad a bricolage undermined by the establishment and partisan to it manages to produce as well as recover real meaning connected to an authentic life source.

DOSED The documenting subject daily exercises his human faculties like his creativity and his wisdom yet however without consuming it all at once as wanted by the cultural and intellectual industries burning many a contemporary characters. In this respect his project is a way to maintain his humanity without burning it like a constant flame.

REFRESHING The documenting subject needs to be constantly active with his human faculties in order to keep on generating fresh content and in turn also feel happy.

FRUSTRATED Generally speaking the documenting subject has the energy of building castles and planting new forests and crossing continents and yet he has always been blocked by the surrounding humans alone stuck in their traditions or too occupied in collecting luxurious commodities.