

SELECTED Out of the already selected data picked from the various selected everyday flows, the documenting subject selects further data to be processed now as raw data turned into actual products.

RICH The documenting subject lives a rather poor existence yet feels really rich within of the kingdom he has been able to cultivate, almost from scratch.

BUILDING While society is building itself by perverting the human will, the documenting subject attempts to maintain his will uncorrupted avoiding to subdue to the social mentality and keeping up the building of his own independent spirituality.

FELT By adding the burden of documentation the documenting subject have a further possibility the otherwise to light and artificially comforted experience, thus keeping a thinking and feeling human rather than a social animal.

VISIONARY The documenting subject's main strives are the visions he can achieve or the ones he thinks he can achieve by reaching his main goal, the spiritual elevation where he is aiming to arrive.

RESTED Having gradually enlarged his commitment, the documenting subject is now more aware about the necessity to rest and releasing his large pressure of work.

SELF-DEPORTED As soon as the documenting subject perceives that the climax is changing around him, he does not hesitate to make preparations for departure without waiting to be deported by others.

PRECARIOUS Following up on his project, the documenting subject has absolutely no securities coming from society, securities that he could have but yet for the coast of compromise he cannot endure for too long.
